The Council of professionals in financial services (CPFS) is pleased to announce that the Vigilis Group and Nexim Canada, independent insurance and financial services firms, have joined the Council as privileged corporate members.

Blainville, August 25, 2017: The Vigilis Group and Nexim Canada, designers and administrators of innovative group insurance solutions for professionals and businesses, have joined the ranks of the Council (CPFS) as privileged corporate members.

"This partnership with the Council is in keeping with our mission to provide our clients and broker partners with the tools they need to compete in the ever-changing environment of the insurance industry" said Richard Desormeau, Chief Executive Officer of the Vigilis Group.

"We must constantly invest in our human and technological resources if we are to maintain our leadership position and continue to exceed our clients' expectations. The same goes for our partner brokers who are looking for innovative solutions to their professional development needs at a lower cost," adds Richard Desormeau.

This new partnership will enable the Vigilis Group and Nexim Canada to access the Council's educational platform to share their expertise and know-how with brokers, coordinate and supervise competent resources in group insurance and annuities, as well as in association plans.

«Our partnership with such specialized firms is part of our ongoing commitment to provide the financial services industry access to consistent and high quality professional development programs through Advice Direct » says Mario Grégoire, President and chief executive officer of the Council. This confirms the importance of the discipline of group insurance in the continuing education offering» adds Mario Grégoire, concluding «again, we mark a new era for educational and professional development programs».

About the Vigilis Group / Nexim Canada
